Subject: Logging Camp Hike.

Today was a 2.5-mile hike to the logging camp. Up and down through the woodland trails. Add two pontoon foot bridges that wobbled like crazy and you have a truly memorable hike. At the logging camp we performed jobs to earn beads. Jobs included sawing logs with two-person saw, cleaning tables, and general cleanup of the camp. The earned beads were bartered at the blacksmith's shop for a chance to make a small tomahawk head. Oh yeah, there was also root beer and souvenir mason jar mugs. All in all, a good trek.

Tonight we cook our own dinner. Pork steaks. Yum!

cheers,
