Subject: 3 Reasons Scouts Do Not Advance - Scoutmastercg.com

I saw this today, shared it to a Troop 71 Facebook page, but thought it might be worth getting out to everyone via email as well.

We are working hard to change our culture from one of "Do Requirements" to "Do Scouting". Parents, I ask that you not panic if your Scout is taking a while to advance. It WILL happen if he stays engaged and participates.

The boy leaders are doing a good job of stepping up, and making the program their own. At the PLC last Tuesday, they started planning what they'll be doing at a camp out the weekend of Oct 23-25, at Camp Birch. I'm sure there will be good fpd, and good fun. And, someone might finish a requirement or two, without realizing it's happening.
